WanderNebraska is Year-Round Fun

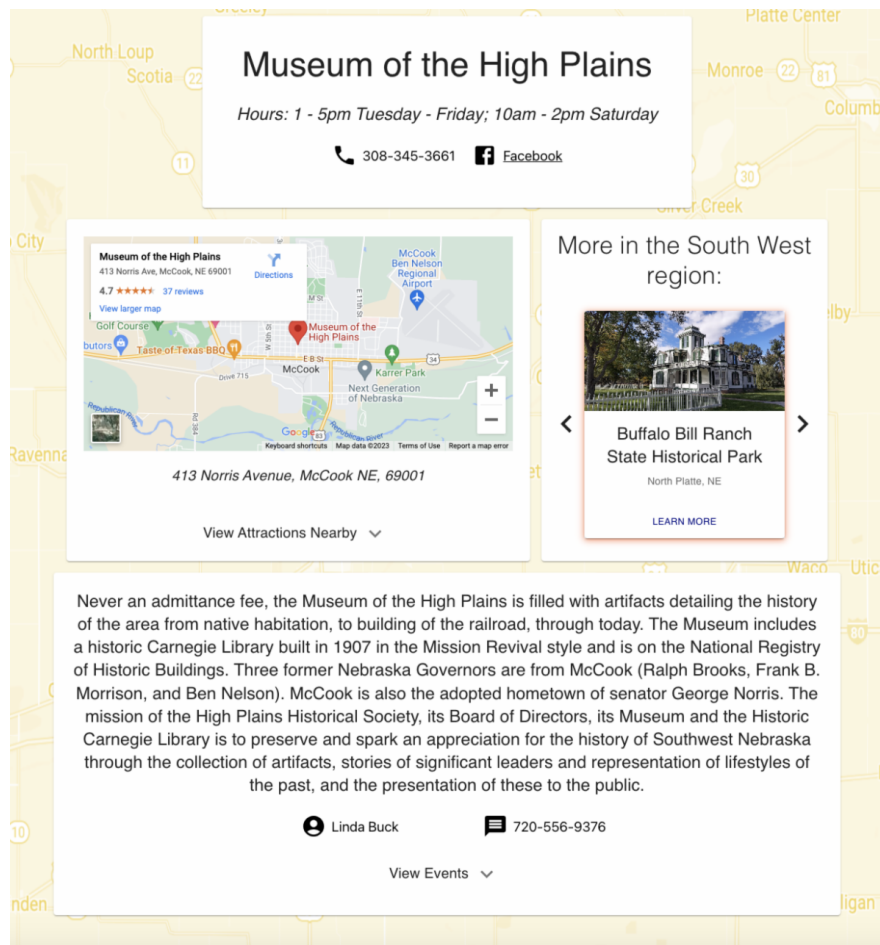

Preserving and celebrating Nebraska's rich history.

The Nebraska State Historical Society Foundation supports museums, historical societies, state parks, and libraries in many ways, including WanderNebraska! In 2023 the reimagined WanderNebraska program is now a permanent online resource you can access at any time. Over 170 museums, historical societies, historic state parks, and libraries with historical records and research opportunities are included on this easy-to-navigate website.

But how do you use WanderNebraska? What is its purpose? WanderNebraska serves as a free reference and tourist guide for history-loving travelers. Travelers who visit the website can visit the "sites" page, type in a city, and find all museums in the location. Looking for something more broad? Visit the "regions" section and select from seven regions to find all museums in that area. Needing information instead? Visit the "libraries" tab to find museums and what historical resources they offer.

WanderNebraska is a fantastic website for your travel plans, as it includes all establishments' locations, open dates, and hours. As some sites do not have an active online presence, we've also included contact information and a description of every site listed on the website.

We hope you visit the website and discover more Nebraska history!

Pershing Auditorium Demolition & the Future

The Pershing Auditorium is officially gone. Had it not been for the actions of Liz Shea McCoy and many others, the Pershing Mural would have been gone as well. Thankfully, the mural safely sits in storage, waiting for its new home in Wyuka Park. You can help fund the reinstallation of this historic piece of art by visiting our website today!

Check presentation at the Shelton Historical Society in Shelton, NE

The Shelton Historical Society is on US Hwy 30 & C Street located in the historic 1909 Meisner Bank Building. The building is located along one block of the original Lincoln Highway bricks. The museum includes the history of the Lincoln Highway, including original highway markers, postcards and vintage memorabilia.

The Shelton Historical Museum received $900 through the Statewide Grants Program for acid-free boxes and two display cases. We are happy our grants program can assist in local historical preservation efforts!
